   GIS Operations at the Northeast Ohio Regional Sewer District
   The Northeast Ohio Regional Sewer District (District) is responsible for wastewater collection, conveyance and treatment in Northeast Ohio - which encompasses the City of Cleveland and all or part of 62 communities in 4 counties. The District heavily relies on GIS technology to help manage spatial and visual information related to its infrastructure, planning/analytical and operational/maintenance activities. Additionally, the District embarked on the implementation of regional Stormwater Management Program (SMP) - to provide comprehensive stream system and watershed management activities across the District's Service Area. To help ensure successful SMP implementation, a considerable amount of data and spatial analysis requirements (using GIS) need to be met to support SMP business process needs and SMP billing database/system implementation. Additionally, integration of the developing SMP GIS responsibilities, without diminishing existing level of service and limited staff resources, presented a series of administrative and economic challenges. This presentation will provide an overview (and some details) regarding some of the various uses of GIS in District operations and information on various GIS-related challenges and anticipated future plans.
